

case study:

decades-long digital direct hire partnership challenge: A global cybersecurity organization sought a permanent placement partner to assist with niche digital skill sets that had traditionally been hard for internal talent acquisition to recruit.

solution: Randstad Digital's permanent placement team worked with the client to understand their business and what set their talent needs apart. Our team recruited, screened and presented key cybersecurity talent in the US and Canada that fit the niche skill set the client was seeking.

result: Because of our initial success in finding exceptional IT talent, this client has continued to leverage Randstad Digital's permanent placement team for over ten years. Our team has since provided upskilling opportunities, giving the organization access to exclusive programs and continued education opportunities. We are proud to have become an exclusive partner, providing expertise in the Cyber/Network Security talent pool across the US and Canada.
